The map displays a dense network of roads, including major routes like the A40, A48, and A483. It also shows the River Towy and other waterways. Numerous small place names and landmarks are scattered throughout the region, such as 'Pen-y-bont', 'Llanfihangel', and 'Llanidloes'. The map uses color coding to represent different types of terrain and infrastructure, with green for parks and forests, brown for roads, and blue for water.
